The Henderson Gaa Well.

The Heuderson Journai says:
"Ex-Senator H.T. Keadal, who is one of the iargest stockholders is the Trenton Rock Natural Gas Co., of this city, returned yesterday from the well where be has been staying ever since the boriag began. It is report of the gas is very encouraging. He says the flow of gas is equal to that of any well in Meads county and perhaps better. The drill has now penetrated to a depth of 518 feet, and at 550 feet the drill will be stepped. The rock which snppiles the gas is sandstone and abova it is an impervious stratum of clay. When the boring stope the couractors will "shoot" the well, a technical term for enlarging the snrface of rock supplying the gas, by the use of dynamite. Mr. Kendai thinks the present pressure is sufficient fur supplying the city of Henderson with manufacturing gas even though it should not increase in flow." Tha Henderson Gas Well.

Why is IIII instead of IV, put on the face of elocks and watches? This is the explanatiou: It is a tradition among jewelers that lieury Vick, when he presented the first modern waleb to Chariea V.of France, surnamed "The Wise," in the year of our Lord 1370, so excelled, by his ourious design, everything the Priace's wisdom had bitherto known that he was at a loss to criticise it, and in a fit of baffied iugonuity, objected to the IV. He said it ought to be HII. The watchmaker suggested that His Majasty might be mistaken. "I am never mistaken," roared the King, and IIII has been on the diai piato over since.

A JAPANESE STORY. in Excelant Illustration of a Grasping

In every country town there are ni least one or two men of bad repute for greediness. They always insist upon all that belongs to them, and, if possible, a little mare. No one ever gets while, a little mare. No one ever gets while, a little mare. A tende or if, by the better of them in a trade, or if, by chance, such a thing does happen, it is a bit of good fertune upon which the entire community congratulates itself.

They got all they keep and they keep. They get all they can, and they keep all they get; and with all they get; and with all the rest they get and keep a bad name. The people of Japan know them, and have a ctory.

Origin of Bisck Maria.

Way hack in the twilight of the settlement of Boston, Maria Lee, a colured woman of gigantic stature, pon-sessing the churnge of a lion, kept a sailors' boarding-house down at the old North End. One night a party of drunken tars got into a row and hegat throwing the Amazon's chatties out o her house. The "watch" was called in, but was soon overpowered, one dlamny spread abroad through the street. Then Maria stalked out of her habitation, and stopped further out-rage by collering two uf the leading offenders and earrying them bodily up to the old "watch house," then stand ing near where Union atreet now crosses Hanover street. 'Biack Maria' was known throughout the city for her prodigieus strength, and for years she aided the police in quelling rows, and had been known to take three strong men to the "watch house" ut once or at one time. Sn, years afterward when the first police "eart" was made it was called the "Black Maria" hence the name. - Boston Giobc.

The development of these powers frequently takes place when in confinement, the exercise of the faculty seeming to afford much enjoyment to the performer. Among the British birds which may be taught to utter words and short sentences are magple jay, starling and jackdaw. The first-mentioned of these, it is said, may be taught to speak almost as plainly as the parrot does; and the starling may be taught to say almost any thing, as well as to whistle tunes. A goldfineh has been known to mimle to the life the chirp of the sparrow, the "Spink spink," of the chaffluch, the twittering of the swallow, the bell-like "scold" of the blackbird, the notes of the oxeye tit, the buntlug, the whitethroat and

The builfinch is a notable imitator of tunes, while the cannry irequently reproduces parts of the airs that have een whistled or pleyed in his hearing. There is on record a most interesting and curious case of mimicry hy canary. A gentleman, having taken temporary rooms in a London lodginghouse, was much disturbed during his first evening's stay there by the persistont striking of a clock (utterly regardless of time) outside his room. It became so annoying to him that he opened the door for the purpose of calling his landlady, when, to his sur-prise, the sound suddenly ceased. Death-simulation is a species of miniory or fraud and unfrequently practiced by birds when suddenly niarmed. THE TENNIS PLAYER.

A Decided Cala to Society in the New World as Well as the Old. The professional lawn-tennis player, malu and female, is also another gain to society. We apologize must humbly for the designation, for we are well aware that (happily) there are no "professionel" luwn-tennis players in this country. But thu game has now become the serious occupation of so many young men and women of icisure that it is difficult not to regard it as a distinct calling. The player of the highest grade is a sad and carnest person whose whole life is spent in trying to get "fitteen better" than any hody else; and when he or she at length attains that exulted position, sleepless nights and inborous days are spent in the effort to maintain it. These innocent persons who look upon lawn tennis areroly as upon lawn tennis areroly as a pleasant pastime would be met try n smile of contemptuous plty from a crack player. Murning, noon and night, all the year round, the stars do nothing but practice the game. In the summer they move about from one tournament to nunther, winning all the best prizes, and when autumn come they fly to Cannes, Nice or Aiglers to pursue their favorite occupation. In the case of ladics such devotion is the more pruiseworthy, because of the reni sacrifices it entails. Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health makes an opoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event individual. Such a remarkance event is tressured in memory and the agency whereby the good health han been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is praise of E'ectric litters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Toule. If you are troubled with any disease of Kid-Great Alterstive and Touic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Slomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per hottle at II.B. F.
